The graph shows the relationship between the rolling mean window size (s) and both SNR (dB) and response time $\tau_{63}$ (s). As the rolling mean window size increases, both SNR and response time also increase. The blue line represents SNR, which shows a significant increase with larger window sizes. The orange line represents $\tau_{63}$, indicating a gradual increase in response time with increasing window size.